The two vehicles engaged in a whirling race through the crowded streets, but the fugitive leader was at length run down and taken to jail. Mrs. Pankhurst was received with an ovation at the meeting. She leaned heavily on a table as she addressed a few fervent sentences to the audience. She said: "I am a rebel, as is Sir Edward Carson. REVOLUTION IN CHINA BEGINS

Revolutionists Under General Li Engaged in Battle With Troops of Yuan Shih-kai in Kiangsi Province — Republican Army Prevents Junction of Rebel Forces.

TOKIO, Japan, July 13.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Civil war, for which President Yuan Shih-kai has quietly been preparing for some time, has broken out in China and tonight at Chin-chiang, in the province of Kiangsi, the army of the Republic, commanded by General Wu Chin-tung is engaged in a fierce battle with a revolutionary army under General Li Chun, and which is said to number 30,000 well drilled men. The troops of Yuan Shih-kai attacked the revolutionary army to prevent a coalition between the soldiers of General Li Chun and another revolutionary army which is approaching from Kwang-tung province.

News that North China, as represented by President Yuan Shih-kai and his supporters, is engaged in a struggle with the southern provinces, who stand by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, has been long expected by those acquainted with existing conditions in China. For some time past it has been apparent that there would be no real peace or anything more than the semblance of government in China until the question of supremacy had been decided by recourse to arms.

For months past the southern provinces have been in a state of revolt against the central government. They have refused to pay taxes for the support of the central government, and have been recruiting troops and drilling them in the expectation that they would be called upon to face an army from the north. President Yuan Shih-kai has not been idle. For the past two months, according to the news from China, he has been dispatching trained troops southward, ostensibly for the purpose of suppressing marauding bands which have been roaming through the provinces. His army is well supplied with artillery and cavalry and has the advantage of saving a war chest back of it.

Local Colony Divided. Feeling among the local Chinese is representative of that in China. The colony is divided into Yuan Shih-kai and Doctor Sun factions. The latter charge that Yuan aspires to become dictator, while they adhere to the principles of republicanism with their leader Doctor Sun. The followers of President Yuan urge that one man and a strong man is needed to place the Republic on a firm basis and assert that only by according to the policy of President Yuan can China hope for internal peace.

Yuan an Able Statesman. According to former United States Minister Calhoun, Yuan Shih-kai is the ablest statesman in China. Although an old man, he has shown great firmness and ability in dealing with difficult problems which have surrounded him since he assumed office. Based on one side by Russia with her claims regarding Mongolia, and with Japan urging an understanding on the Manchurian question, not to mention the matter of securing great loans necessary to conduct the government, President Yuan Shih-kai now finds himself with a formidable revolt on his hands. It is believed by partisans of Yuan Shih-kai here, that if he succeeds in crushing the rebellion, he will adopt strong measures with relation to whipping the southern provinces into line for the general support of the government, and that for a time at least he will assume the powers of a dictator and rule by martial law.

Kiangsi Revolution Hotbed. Kiangsi province, where the first battle of the civil war is being fought, lies north of Kwang-tung province. The latter, in which Canton is situated, is the hotbed of revolt, as it was under the empire of the Manchus, and although one of the richest provinces in the Republic, it has been opposed to Yuan Shih-kai government from the beginning and has refused to pay taxes to the central government. Of late President Yuan has forced the hand of the revolutionists by removing a number of officials disloyal to his government, several of whom are said to have fled to Hongkong with big sums of money from the public treasury.

PINKHAM SEES THE PRESIDENT

Dark Horse Candidate for Governorship Lopes Over the Horizon and Gallops Into Washington, Impressing the Observers There With His Fine Gait and Beautiful Action.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(Special to The Advertiser)—L. E. Pinkham of Honolulu, the last announced candidate for the governorship of Hawaii, is in Washington and is marshalling his forces. In well-informed circles here it is stated that Mr. Pinkham is being seriously considered as the successor of Governor Frear, and it is reported that he has strong backing here, as well as having the secret support of a large number of the business interests in the Islands.

Yesterday Mr. Pinkham had an interview with the President and afterwards called upon Secretary of the Interior Lane, spending some time with each. This may be taken to indicate that his claims upon the position have weight with the administration.

PROF. WILLIAM A. BRYAN, IS COAST TIP

William Alanson Bryan, professor, for Governor of Hawaii, is the tip of the Los Angeles Times, a portion of whose interview with Professor Bryan was wirelessly from San Francisco to The Advertiser last week. The following, from the Times of July 3, gives further particulars of the Bryan boom: "William A. Bryan, professor of zoology at the College of Hawaii, and now a guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bryan, in Whittier, will in all probability be the next Governor of Hawaii. At least such is the prophecy of those in touch with island politics who have followed the career of the brilliant young scientist. So favorably have Professor Bryan's credentials been received and passed upon by those in authority at Washington, and so strong is the backing from men high in the Republican and Democratic ranks of the Territory of Hawaii, that his friends consider his appointment a foregone conclusion. This has been more than emphasized by the fact that President Wilson has deferred nominating a successor to Governor Frear until the present turmoil over the gubernatorial chair has somewhat subsided. "While it is true that my name has been sent on to President Wilson for consideration in connection with the governorship of Hawaii, and while I have assurance from the President and my friends in Washington that my papers have been favorably received, I am not an active candidate in the ordinary sense of the word, as I have not made a regular campaign to secure personal or political backing," said Professor Bryan yesterday.

"Should the President see fit to offer the appointment, it will be made without the use of influence of any kind other than personal merit, acceptability and general availability. Should one of the three or four avowed candidates, who long have been under consideration by the President, prove acceptable, I trust my name and credentials as a private citizen and college professor and a constructive Democrat (Continued on page two.)

Mulhall Tells How Manufacturers' Association Fought Union Labor

Bought Politicians and Paid Spies He Says

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)
WASHINGTON, July 14.—(Special to The Advertiser)—How the National Association of Manufacturers is alleged to have bought politicians, paid spies in Philadelphia during the printers' strike of 1906, and prepared a broad campaign to combat the American Federation of Labor, was disclosed as today's session of the senate committee investigating the "insidious lobby" charges. This information was given by Martin Mulhall of Baltimore when he resumed the stand. Mulhall produced two hundred letters purporting to show the manufacturers' anti-labor fight. He declared that Michael Collins, a union engineer, was paid by the manufacturers' association to spy on the strikers. Mulhall denied that he personally sold his story to the New York World and the Chicago Tribune newspapers. The witnesses declared that a newspaper writer named Barry had arranged for his sale. The witnesses said he had previously offered the narrative free to Hearst's magazine, but that his offer had been turned down. "After contracting to sell the

INVITES AN INVESTIGATION

Victors Transporting Captives to Islands in Aegean Sea is one of the Claims of Bulgars—Roumania, With Army in Field, Is Reported to Be Forming Coalition With Turkey.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)
LONDON, July 14.—(Special to The Advertiser)—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria in a long message dispatched from Sofia today, says:

"The stories and reports which the Greeks and Servians have been circulating in Europe concerning so-called outrages committed by my troops on the Greek and Servian population in Macedonia are absolutely unfounded and are published with the object of creating a bad impression. King Ferdinand told of the liberties enjoyed by the people of Adrianople without regard to their nationality and closes with the allegation that systematic attempts and persecutions have been directed against the Bulgarian element in Macedonia by the Servians and Greeks.

The districts of Kastoria, Florina, and Xolena, he says, have been cleared of all well-educated men and the prisons of Salonika are overflowing with innocent Bulgarians. Great numbers of Bulgarians have been transported from their homes in the country to Greece and to the islands of the Aegean Sea. The same cruel regime, he says, has been applied to the Bulgarians in the regions occupied by the Servians. The purely Bulgarian town of Kukulski has been completely burned by the Greek troops.

Thousands of refugees, King Ferdinand concludes in Sofia gave terrifying accounts of the horrible deeds committed by the Servians and the Greeks. The Bulgarian government is ready to submit to an international inquiry which will enlighten the world concerning the stories of the excesses says King Ferdinand.
